

The New Jalite Aluminum UL-Listed Exit Signs Provide Maintenance, Life Cycle & Energy Cost Savings

“The savings in inspection time alone make these worth it.”
—Craig Wagner, Staff Electrician, Middletown School System

• Reduce Required Maintenance

The most overlooked costs to exit signs are the monthly and annual inspections required by code, and the replacement of bulbs and batteries. Once Jalite signs are installed, there are NO tests to perform and NO batteries or bulbs to change.

• Lower Life Cycle Cost

The new range of Jalite Aluminum Exit Signs using proprietary pigments will last twice as long as the typical lifetime of a LED or other electrical exit sign.

• Use Less Energy

Charged by the ambient light of your facility, Jalite Exit Signs require no additional energy.

“When the lights go out, ours go on.™”

• Emergency Preparedness

Jalite UL-Listed Exit Signs do more than meet code; they ensure your facility is prepared for the worst case scenario. If the lights are on prior to a power outage, Jalite Exit Signs will illuminate the location of the exit without fail. We mean it when we say, “When the lights go out, ours go on.™”

• Code Compliant

All of Jalite UL-Listed Exit Signs are tested and listed by Underwriters Laboratory and are sure to meet code—both the NFPA Life Safety Code 101 and the International Building Code. Reference the UL-924 Standard when specifying the required exit signs in your facility.*

*A minimal amount of light (5 foot candles of fluorescent light) is required on the face of the sign. If you’re still unsure, give us a call.
